DOUGLAS CORP. CHAIRMAN CALLS FOR SPEEDING UP OF THE MISSILES PRODUCTION

Washington, (P)—A pioneer aircraft manufacturer today called for "more guts and less gobbledygook" to speed U. S. production of U. S. missiles and anti-missile missiles.

Donald W. Douglas, Sr., chairman of the board of the Douglas Aircraft Corp., said only a small fraction of the necessary funds has been made available for work on the Zeus antimissile project on which his firm is working with Bell Telephone Laboratories and Western Electric.

"Nearly two years ago we felt this weapon was sufficiently feasible to warrant a go-ahead," he told the Senate Preparedness subcommittee, "but so far only a small fraction of the necessary funds has been made available."

In the case of the 1,500-mile intermediate range ballistic missile Thor, Douglas said that even after successful test firings "we waited from August to December for an order to increase production of this much-needed missile."

But Douglas testified that on the whole he could say "most unequivocally that I do not share the gloomy opinion of so many that the race for weapon supremacy has been lost forever and that we are permanently doomed to the role of a secondary power."

He expressed belief the armed services and industry have been doing a much better job of keeping pace with any potential enemy than the public realizes.

Douglas appeared with his son, Donald W. Douglas, Jr., president of the company and Robert Johnson, his assistant chief missiles engineer.

He said that in two years the Thor has been developed and successfully tested and the production line is now in operation to turn them out in any quantity desired.

Opposing the single chief of command setup advocated by some, he said that "too often centralization of authority simply means the absolute power to commit irreparable blunders."

Classes not scheduled at the court-integrated school today. Teachers are grading midterm examinations.

An Arkansas Military District spokesman said the normal complement of federalized guardsmen—about 25 men—was on duty today as usual. The shift was changed recently to weekdays only from 8 a. m. to 5 p. m. formerly the guardsmen were on duty at all times.

The federalized troops found "no indication of any evidence" of a bombing, a spokesman for the Arkansas Military Dist. said. Other Army officers insisted that the surprise maneuver was merely "a practice alert."

About an hour before the soldiers arrived at the four-square-block campus, military authorities, Little Rock police headquarters and a newspaper had received anonymous telephone calls that "something was going to happen to Central High School."

"They're from out of town; they're going to blow up the school," a woman caller shouted almost hysterically into a newsman's ear.

At 9 p. m. two jeeps and a bus carrying an estimated 36 guardsmen reached the campus. The rumors that "something was going on" brought hundreds of onlookers in automobiles.

The troops, under the command of an unidentified colonel, dashed into the dark building and flashlights were seen moving from room to room.

Musical Opens White House Social Season

A "white tie" dinner and champagne musicale opened the 1958 White House social season last night.

The President and Mrs. Eisenhower entertained 84 guests at a state dinner in honor of Vice President Nixon and the Cabinet. After dinner, another 154 guests—lesser government officials and their wives—came for a music program and mid-evening refreshments, including champagne.

Physician Says Fingerprints May Be Changed Permanently

Chicago (AP)—Fingerprints—contrary to the general belief—can be changed permanently, a New Orleans physician reports in a medical publication.

Writing in the current Archives of Dermatology of the American Medical Assn., Dr. James W. Burks described two medical cases where fingerprints were obliterated.

"The potential inconsistency of fingerprints renders positive identification by this means uncertain and thus has legal implications which will undoubtedly affect certain judicial decisions," Burks said.

Burks' two patients were treated to remove arsenic-caused horny growths on a fingertip.

In such cases, Burks said, dermatologists can aid law enforcement officials by determining what medical reasons, if any, a person may have for removing fingerprints.

Successful Launching of Navy's Polaris Ballistic Test Vehicle Is Announced

Cape Canaveral, Fla. (P)—The Navy launched a Polaris ballistic missile test vehicle here today.

It was the first Polaris test officially identified as such. Judging from its performance at the start, and until it disappeared down the Air Force missile test range, it was a highly successful shot.

The Lockheed missile was launched at a minute before 8 a. m. into a cloudless blue sky. Watchers in the chill morning air saw it whoosh upward with a considerably greater rate of acceleration than that of other big ballistic missiles launched here recently. The Polaris is noted for its fantastic speed.

It left a long white trail high out across toward the south-east. The roar of its rocket motor came some seconds after the missile left the ground.

Almost immediately after the launching the Air Force missile test center here confirmed it.

This announcement was made: "A test vehicle in the Navy Polaris program was fired from the missile test center at 7:59 a. m. today."

It is known that a number of Polaris test devices have been fired from this center within the past 12 months.

In each case those launchings that were confirmed were described merely as test vehicles, without associating them with Polaris.

Polaris, named after the North Star, is the Navy's 1,500-mile intermediate-range ballistic missile. It was designed for launching from atomic powered submarines above or below water, and from aboard ships.

In Washington, the Defense Department's director of missiles, William Holaday, said the firing was considered a success.

Holaday, spoke briefly with newsmen as he arrived at a closed-door session of the House Armed Services Committee. "All I really know now is that they have called it a success," he said.

Holaday said the device that was tested includes a forerunner of the Polaris propulsion engine.

"We will be making and firing more of these as we go on with the development of the missile," he said.

House Readies Move To Raise National Debt

Washington (P)—Secretary of the Treasury Anderson told Congress today that distressingly low cash balances in the Treasury necessitate the five-billion-dollar increase in the legal debt limit asked by the administration.

He said the cash position now is so tight that next month treasury balances in commercial banks may get down to 250 million dollars, or less than an average day's disbursements.

Appearing before the House Ways and Means Committee, Anderson said the request for a hike in the debt limit from 276 to 280 billion dollars until June 30, 1959, was based also on the need for more flexibility in managing debt obligations.

The committee is expected to approve legislation for the higher debt ceiling. Action may come next week and that would send the question on to the Senate.

Anderson had asked the increase by letter three days ago, saying he needs "sufficient flexibility that will allow us the capacity to do as good a job as we can in the management of the debt."

House leaders, anticipating no concerted opposition, already have scheduled debt increase legislation for a vote Tuesday.

The increase would permit new government borrowing to finance maturing obligations before the bulk of tax receipts flow in during the next several months.

In an earlier appearance report the Ways and Means Committee, Anderson "regretfully" ruled out general tax reduction under present conditions. But he clearly left the way open for a tax cut in the future if the economy fails to make an expected rebound and requires stimulation.

The government's debt now exceeds 274 billion dollars, less than a billion below the present ceiling.

Area Girl Blamed for Fatal Crash in Canada

Sarnia, Ont. (P)—Miss Vaune Britt, 18, of Youngsville, Pa., was convicted yesterday of careless driving from a two-car collision near here last June 2 in which two persons were killed.

Mrs. Henry John Versilus, 32, of Muskegon, Mich., wife of the driver of other car, and Mrs. Julia Fazekas, 70, of Corry, Pa., a passenger in Miss Britt's car, were killed in the accident.

Says Government Had No Right To Give Indians Title to Land

By JOHN KOENIG JR. AP Special Washington Service

Washington (P)—The Justice Department maintained today that the federal government had no authority to give the Seneca Indians title to their reservation lands in western New York under a 1794 treaty.

The pact was "not a treaty of cession," Ralph Boyd, a department attorney, argued in U. S. District Court in opposing the tribe's plea for an injunction to block construction of a flood control dam at Kinzua.

"Whatever title they (the Indians) have must come from the state of New York," Boyd said. "The federal government agreed merely not to disturb the Indians on their reservation."

Today's proceeding was a pre-trial conference before Judge John J. Sirica. No date has been set for the trial.

Participating were Boyd for the Justice Department and Edward E. O'Neill, counsel for the Indians. The dam site is on the Allegheny River in Warren County, Pa., 12 miles below the New York border. The reservoir would inundate a part of the Indian reservation.

Congress appropriated one million dollars last year for starting construction of the 101 million-dollar project authorized in 1936. President Eisenhower's budget for

Prediction Is Made Private Engineers Will Recommend a Diversionary Channel to Lake

Dr. Arthur Morgan, known as the world's foremost hydrodynamic engineer, has given assurances to the Seneca Nation that a private engineering firm employed by U. S. Army Engineers will almost certainly recommend a diversionary channel to Lake Erie, rather than the proposed Kinzua Dam.

These assurances were repeated last night by Seneca legal counsel Ed F. O'Neill as he addressed approximately 250 persons present for a public hearing on Kinzua Dam in the courthouse.

Dr. Morgan himself, said O'Neill, is convinced that the diversionary channel will not only afford better flood protection to Warren but will also provide better water conservation and supply for Pittsburgh interests. O'Neill added that the diversionary channel beginning on the Allegheny River just below Quaker Bridge and emptying, if necessary, into Lake Erie at Silver Creek, would cost taxpayers some $20,000,000 less than the Kinzua project.

When the Indians contacted the famed Dr. Morgan to make a complete survey, the U. S. Army Engineers realized they were in a real fight and asked the New York City private engineering firm of Tippetts, Abbott, McCarthy and Stratton to evaluate the two projects. Its report, supposedly final, said O'Neill, is due March 31, 1958.

O'Neill got a chuckle from the crowd when he referred to a "District Congressman," obviously Leon H. Gavin. When first approached on the diversionary project, Gavin asked: "How can you make water run uphill?" Commented O'Neill last night: "I don't know what the Congressman got in geography but the fact remains that the level of Lake Erie is approximately 800 feet below Allegheny River level at Kinzua."

Main drawback to the diversionary channel, said the Indian's legal counsel, would be a glacial deposit at Markham, N. Y. After that it's all downhill to the lake. (For a picture of the proposed Conewango Valley Reservoir, see yesterday's edition, page 9).

O'Neill observed that the marsh land to be flooded in the Conewango valley would offer much more water to Pittsburgh than the dam, the amount being 1500 cubic feet more per second. This would be so, said O'Neill, because even the Army Engineers admit that they could not start collecting water in the Kinzua Reservoir until June.

This is true, he said, because of the fear of the sudden spring thaw and/or flood-rain. From February through May, stated O'Neill in effect, Army Engineers admit that water could not be held more than 72 hours in the Kinzua reservoir. The marshes along the Conewango valley, he added, could start holding water in February.

"And why is this? Because we have a back door into Lake Erie we can use if necessary."

Early in his extemporizing, the attorney reiterated his contention that the Pittsburgh industrialists were behind the Kinzua Dam project. "They don't care if Warren floods—all they want is a high water level in late summer months to save them millions in anti-pollution measures."

He pointed out that back in 1938 when the dam first appeared in the Congressional Record, it was to be a 40-foot-high structure for flood control. "Forty feet is still flood control," shouted O'Neill as he waxed to his topic, "and 180 feet is anti-pollution."

"Back in 1910," continued O'Neill, "Pittsburgh suffered a disastrous flood. A civilian group the next year submitted a report to Army Engineers recommending a series of 16 smaller check dams on tributaries upstream. The Army Engineers reaction to this, in fact their entire report on the matter, was to ridicule every civilian suggestion. However, today we find that the Army Engineers have built these same dams, but instead of building them 20, 30 or 40 feet high, they built them 100, 150 or 200 feet high."

"This is just to show you," he said, "that the Army Engineers can be wrong."

In conclusion, the attorney went back to Timothy Pickering, President George Washington's private envoy to the Senecas. In 1794, when the famed Pickering Treaty was finally signed, said O'Neill, the government promised it would deed the lands to the Indians "as long as the moon would rise, the grass be green, the river flow, and the sun shine."

"I'm going to appear in federal court in Washington, D. C. tomorrow," stated Attorney O'Neill, "and I'm going to tell that up here the grass is still green, the moon still shines, the river flows and the sun shines. If that doesn't do any good, we'll bring them up here and show them."

He sat down to huge applause. Richard Morrison, Save Our Valley Association chairman, presided at the public hearing. He described the terrible Johnstown flood of 1889, then told by illustrated lecture of the natural beauties

BENSON FACES QUESTIONING ON PROGRAM

Washington (P)—Hostile senators challenged the accuracy of Secretary of Agriculture Benson to his face today as he urged Congress to authorize lower farm price supports and ease crop production controls. Chairman Ellender (D-La.) accused Benson of making inaccurate statements to the Senate Agriculture Committee in support of President Eisenhower's farm program proposals, sent to Congress in a special message. Sen. Humphrey (D-Minn.) said of a portion of Benson's testimony: "The Federal Trade Commission would rule it out as false advertising."

Washington (P)—Secretary of Agriculture Benson today urged Congress to ease crop production controls and to authorize lower price supports as a means of opening new farm markets.

In a statement prepared for a Senate Agriculture Committee hearing, he asked specifically for quick action on a broad program outlined by President Eisenhower in a special message on agriculture yesterday.

The program drew heavy fire from many farm state congressmen.

As Eisenhower had done, Benson characterized major features of current farm programs as failures.

Benson put great stress on administration proposals to give his department authority to set price supports for such basic crops as wheat, corn, cotton, rice, tobacco, peanuts and dairy products as low as 60 per cent of parity. The present minimum is 75 per cent of parity.

Parity is a standard for measuring farm prices declared by law to be fair to farmers in relation to their costs.

A number of key legislators have said that major proposal by the administration stands no chance of adoption.

Little controversy developed over some other proposals in the farm message President Eisenhower sent to Congress, and these appeared likely to win approval.

Actress Churchill Fights Back Tears But Pays $50 Fine

Malibu, Calif. (P)—Actress Sarah Churchill, head high and fighting to hold back the tears, pleaded guilty to a drunk charge, but explained: "I was more ill than drunk."

The 44-year-old actress, daughter of Britain's Sir Winston Churchill, was fined $50 yesterday in Malibu Justice Court.

Her gloved hands gripped the back of a chair as she faced Judge Charles H. Woodmansee and answered, "I plead guilty to the charge."

Judge Woodmansee said her attitude was commendable, but added: "You are the daughter of the world's greatest living statesman, but we must place the case in its proper perspective."

He said he would treat her the same as anyone else who came before him on the same charge. He then fined her $50 or 10 days in jail.

JC's to Canvass Saturday for Donations for Public Auction

A store to store canvass of all Warren retailers for the purpose of soliciting contributions for a Jaycee Auction will be conducted tomorrow afternoon, according to Carl Mazzu, chairman of the project.

Mazzu stated that this project is essential if the Jaycees are to have enough money to finish out the year's planned projects. He expressed the hope that the Jaycees would be able to stage the biggest auction ever held in the community.

In explaining the project, Mazzu said that ten per cent of the profit realized at the auction will be turned over to the Retailers Committee of the Chamber of Commerce.

The purpose of tomorrow's retailer canvass will be to determine if enough merchandise can be collected to warrant going ahead with the auction. Anything and everything the retailers want to donate will be accepted according to Mazzu.

He pointed out that no merchandise will be collected tomorrow, but the Jaycees hope to determine roughly how much merchandise will be available

Mayville Murder Trial Winds Up in Strange, Dramatic Move

Defense Attorney for confessed slayer Donald F. Warner dramatically rested his case yesterday in a theatrical courtroom maneuver which flabbergasted judge, jury and defendant alike.

Summons were expected to start in the Mayville Courthouse this morning and the jury was likely to receive Judge Rollin Fancher's second degree murder charge this afternoon. An early verdict was anticipated.

Prosecution wound up its case Thursday morning yesterday afternoon. Defense Attorney Joseph Gerace placed on the stand, Mrs. Ethel Peters of Frewsburg, mother of the defendant. She told of seeing a note from the 18-year-old wife of her son which of the blood spattered bathtub read: "Dear Don, I am leaving you until you buy me a washing machine and learn to clean up your own mess, Winnie."

Earlier testimony had revealed the couple first quarreled over a new washing machine two days before the slaying.

When Mrs. Peters stepped down, Attorney Gerace asked the 22-year-old defendant to take the stand. While a hushed air of expectancy fell over the crowded courtroom, Warner made his way across the court chamber, behind the jury box, and into the witness chair where he sat clenching his hands. Witnesses said his eyes appeared abnormally bright behind shell-rimmed glasses. When he was seated Defense Attorney Gerace rose slowly and walked casually over to the high table where lay three rusty exhibits—a broken board which constituted the murder weapon that bludgeoned pretty, pregnant Winne, the blood spattered bathtub.

Gerace continued to lean his elbows on the table and pore over the exhibits. One minute ticked by, then two, and three, in the silent courtroom. The defendant's eyes grew more intense on the stand, his forehead perspired. Finally Gerace spoke in a low voice, barely audible, "Your Honor, the defense rests."

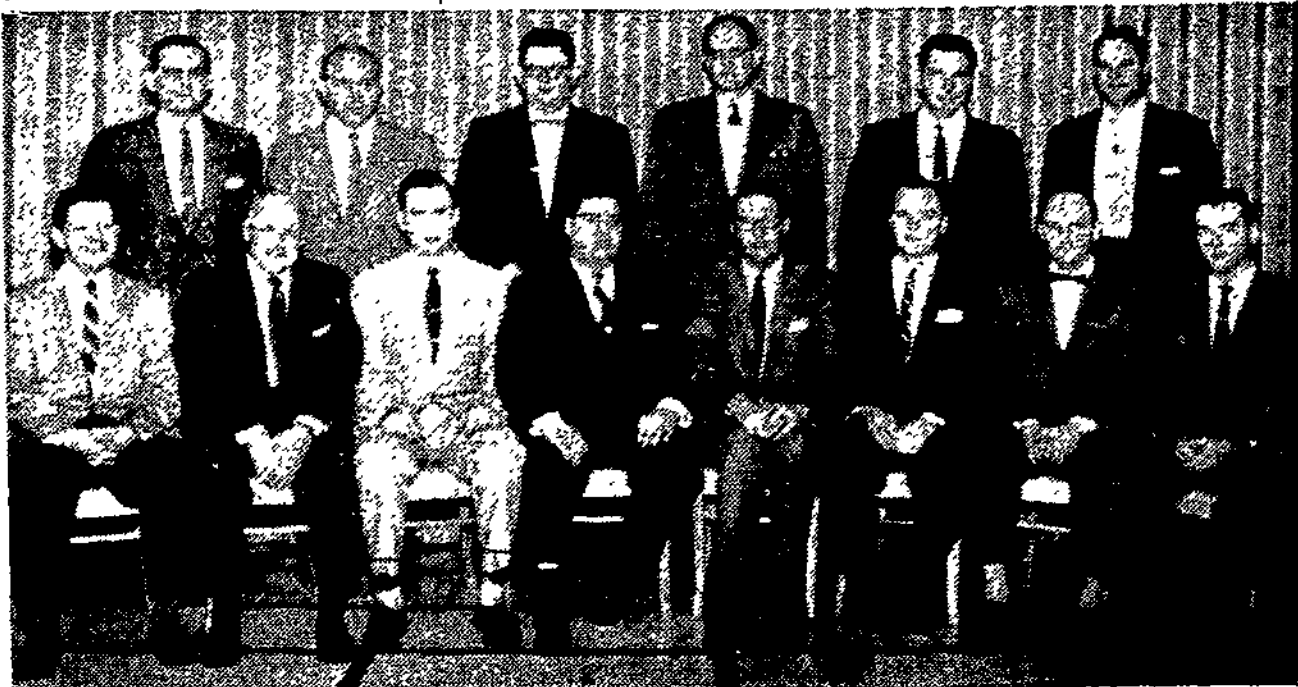

The courtroom broke into an excited buzz while prosecution attorneys appeared stunned, as did Judge Fancher and Warner.

Court then adjourned until 10 a. m. today.

Beaty Auditorium Sellout for Night of Harmony

Warren Barbershoppers present their 10th Annual Night of Harmony program beginning at 8:15 p. m. Saturday in Beaty Auditorium. As usual, the event is a sell-out.

Plummer Collins, president of the Warren Chapter, SPEBSQSA, expressed regret that ticket demand exceeded the supply. However, he pointed out that the 11th Annual affair would be held next year.

Mr. Collins will open the program by welcoming the guests. W. LeRoy Schneck is to master the ceremonies which will have as one of its highlights the "Confederates" quartet which is pictured above. This group won the 1956-57 International championship and are shown as they received the SPEBSQSA trophy.

From left the "Confederates" are George Evans, tenor, Dave LaBonte, lead, Bill Busby, baritone, and Wally Singleton, bass. Warren Chapter Chorus, regional champs for two successive years, will open the program. Earl Ericson is director. Then three Warren quartets will appear in this order:

"The Spel Squires", Clyde Baker, lead, Jay Krimmel, tenor, Steve Cruickshank, bass, and Bill Cornwall, baritone; "The Tunes", Virg. Albaugh, lead, Ad Scholes, tenor, MacSears, bass, John Swick, baritone; "The Dominos", Bob Dietsch, lead, Howard Johnson, tenor, Jim Cruickshank, bass, Carl Johnson, baritone.

"The Babbling Brooks" of East Liverpool, Ohio are next on the program and the "Confederates" bring the first half to a close.

After intermission, the local Chorus will appear first, followed by "The Jamestown Rolling Tones", "The Babbling Brooks" of Jamestown and "The Confederates" of Memphis, Tenn.

Smallest of the U. S. national parks is Platt National Park, which covers 1.43 square miles in south-central Oklahoma.

OIL PITS ON DISPLAY

The Warren County Historical Society announces that photographs of work on the ancient oil pits near the Drake Well at Titusville are on display in a large case in the second floor hall of the county courthouse. They will be publicly displayed until the end of January. The photographs were taken by Ken Stratton of Warren who was present during November, 1937, when the pit was excavated.

Arkansas was admitted to the Union on June 15, 1836.

Government Report Shows an Increase in Unemployment

Washington (AP)—The government reported Tuesday that unemployment increased by 186,000 in the nation last month while the number of workers with jobs declined by 477,000.

The moderate holiday season rise in unemployment boosted the jobless figure to 5.2 per cent of the labor force—the highest level in three years and the highest December rate since 1949.

The monthly report of the Commerce and Labor departments said the December jobless count was moderated by temporary holiday hiring in stores and the postal service.

It indicated the jobless figure may spurt in January, noting that federal-state unemployment compensation claims have increased sharply by more than 500,000 since the December jobless count was taken.

The report attributed the December jobs decline mainly to further sharp cutbacks in manufacturing and construction.

It said the average factory work week, remaining in December at the 39.3 hours level of November, was the lowest point for an December since World War II. Over-time work declined from 2.3 to an even 2 hours between November and December, largely because of auto industry cutbacks.

I'm only a dog, but I've noticed these humans do not seem to be aware of this alcoholic snare until they've drank and drank, and the booze has really got 'em, and then it's too late sometimes to do anything about it. I've got eyes and I can see what it's doin' to folks, and the wonder to me is why these humans do not do more looking around themselves, and learn something.

RAGS

The greatest curse today is not liquor, or even the advertising of liquor, which is an indefensible CRIME; but rather the public INDIFFERENCE to the entire liquor problem—Hon. Roger W. Babson.

Even Governor Knight of California has his feet in this mire up to his ankles. He does not deny that he has received liquor money in his political campaigns. Nor does he deny that he is under obligation to the liquor people of California.

More than a hundred people went to their death in a mysterious collision of two airplanes over the Grand Canyon of Arizona. There is no proof that liquor was responsible. But there is proof that liquor in traveling automobiles causes half of the deaths upon the highways of America. There is also proof that liquor was on these two planes and being served.

INDIAN WAR IS DECLARED

What will probably become the last great war in American Indian history was officially declared Thursday night. Richard Morrison, speaking in his capacity as chairman of the Save Our Valley Association, exhorted everyone of the 200 persons present at the meeting, and anyone else interested, to start an immediate barrage of letters and telegrams to their Congressmen and Representatives.

"Send a nightletter tonight," he urged.

Taking into consideration the too-long delay in starting the protest, Morrison said: "For 20 years it was just talk. Then—"

Seneca Indian Attorney Ed F. O'Neill was bellwether of the meeting. It was he who pointed out that world renowned hydrodynamic engineer Dr. Arthur Morgan of Pittsburgh agreed that a diversionary channel to Lake Erie was not only feasible, but was better from points of view of cost, flood protection and water conservation. This distinguished engineer, who headed the Tennessee Valley Authority and built the world famous Miami, Ohio, Water Conservation series of dams around Dayton, plus other famed dams in Europe and Africa, would not likely be wrong in his judgment here. One of his assistants worked on the project mightily for nine months before suffering a fatal heart attack. Another of Dr. Morgan's colleagues is working with the private engineering firm hired by the Army Engineers to evaluate both the channel and the dam.

As far as flood protection goes, O'Neill pointed out that engineering studies have concluded that the Kinzua Dam would supply only 70 per cent of the flood protection Warren needs. The other damage percentage is supplied the length of Conewango Creek. That the diversion channel would be more effective is obvious when a look at the map shows that it also regulates the amount of water flowing into the Conewango Creek in New York State. To use O'Neill's words, this excess flow in the spring would be shuttled "out the back door into Lake Erie" near Silver Creek, N. Y. Allegheny River is 800 feet higher than Lake Erie.

CARL W. ROGERS

In the unexpected passing of Carl W. Rogers, 228 Pennsylvania avenue west, Thursday afternoon, Chief Cornplanter Council Boy Scouts of America, loses a second valuable and enthusiastic official and worker. Carl had been active in Scouting since 1920, and in the last 38 years has not only held all important posts in the Council but had been the recipient of every coveted honor within the ranks of the organization. He was a member of the executive board and National Council. During his long and enthusiastic career as a Scouter he filled with great credit to himself and the Council various other positions within the organization. His most prized possession was the Silver Beaver award presented him some years ago.

In recent years, since it was founded by the Jaycees Auxiliary, Mr. Rogers had been active in the Golden Age Society and was serving as president at the time of his death. He was also an active member of the First Church, Christ Scientist.

THANK YOU, JUDGE

This week members of Warren County Bar Association have been conducting students on guided tours of the Courthouse. After one group heard Judge Alexander C. Flick, Jr., outline functions of the court, a pupil raised his hand and asked the judge where the reporters sat. "The first row along its entire length is always reserved for press representatives," said the judge. It is my belief that they fulfill an important service and I don't want them to miss a word of the proceedings." Judge Flick has already distinguished himself throughout the nation by being one of the first jurists to allow flashless photography while court was in session.

Here and There

Youngsters in this area can participate in selecting the nation's boy or girl with the most winning smile through Howdy Doody mail ballots now available at the local Railway Express office. It was announced here by R. F. Gilmore, Agent. The ballots picture each of ten national winners recently selected by judges from more than 207,000 "smile" photographs submitted in the Saturday morning Howdy Doody television contest. A junior size self-powered electric Railway Express truck was awarded to each of the national winners shown on the ballots. "We hope that many local children, three to ten years of age, will vote in what may well be the largest election by and for kids ever held in the nation," Agent Gilmore commented.

Included in the Rev. Russell W. Lambert's address to the student body of Warren High Wednesday morning, was his personal experience with Communism—its ideas, threat, standard, etc. After a communist youth gathering and demonstration he witnessed in Berlin, he went to a theater and saw a movie. Rev. Lambert related that the movie was excellent—better photographing than American movies and much better lighting. Being all in German, he said the theme seemed to be the fact that to be personally worth anything, one would have to turn his personality over to the state. The state of Communism is a religion-like situation where individualism is ruled out. While on a ship sailing from Copenhagen one day, Rev. Lambert mentioned that a group of twenty young Communist adults were passengers and tried to persuade him to Communism, and of course, he tried his hand at selling Democracy. As they put it, all countries should turn Communist and be saved. "Be saved for what?" Rev. Russell inquired. For the state, was their reply. When returning to the states and seeing the Statue of Liberty in the harbor of New York, "made tears trickle down my face," he said.

Ike's Trade Plan a Sop to High Tariffs, Say Importers

BY PETER EDSON
NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON—(NEA)—American importers aren't at all happy about Eisenhower administration recommendations for renewal of the reciprocal trade agreements act, which comes up this year. Philip Courtney, president of City and chairman of the U.S. Council of International Chamber of Commerce, came to Washington to declare that the proposals "fall far short of present-day needs."

In an all-day closed meeting ICC Council members got the impression from Clarence B. Randall, White House assistant on foreign trade policy, that the administration would not budge. George L. Bell, president of the Committee for a National Trade Policy, lobbying for extending the present trade policy, has issued another criticism. He declares that the newly requested authority to raise tariff rates "might cause misunderstanding and uncertainty in other countries and result in less favorable treatment and new tariff barriers against U.S. exports."

BOTH THESE ORGANIZATIONS and other foreign trade promotion groups endorse the Eisenhower proposal to extend trade agreements for five years, in place of the customary one and two years.

But they feel that the administration has given too much ground in promises of tariff rate increases, just to get high tariff congressmen to approve the five-year extension. This issue will come to a head in February when the full House Ways and Means Committee begins hearings on trade agreements extension.

The administration's defense of its new policy line on foreign trade is based on three principal concepts: The first is political reality. Somebody has convinced the administration that it can't get Congress to pass a straight extension of existing trade legislation.

So they have compromised. They have put in concessions that will make the high tariff congressmen feel that relief will be provided in cases where hardship from low tariff import competition can be clearly proved.

RESPONSIBILITY for securing passage of the trade agreements act extension has been taken away from Department of State. The job has been turned over to Secretary of Commerce Sinclair Weeks, considered more of a protective tariff man.

The second factor in determining the administration's new line is the matter of price increases on American products of 100 per cent since 1934 and 50 per cent since 1945.

This has tended to increase the price differential between American-made goods and lower cost foreign-made goods.

The third factor is found in a study of hardship cases made by U.S. Tariff Commission and Department of Commerce. It indicates that existing trade agreements escape clauses do not give the President adequate leeway to grant relief by raising tariff rates on imports competing with goods made in U.S.A.

THE ALTERNATIVE to granting relief through increasing-tariff rates is to restrict competing imports by quotas.

This the administration wishes to avoid completely.

And that is said to provide another justification for the compromise trade agreements policy now presented to Congress. It is denied that it will provide a loophole for raising all tariff rates.

Finally, administration leaders feel that they must make good on a letter which President Eisenhower wrote to GOP House Leader Joe Martin in February, 1953. In it, the President promised that, "No American industry will be placed in jeopardy by the administration, of this measure (the trade agreements act)."

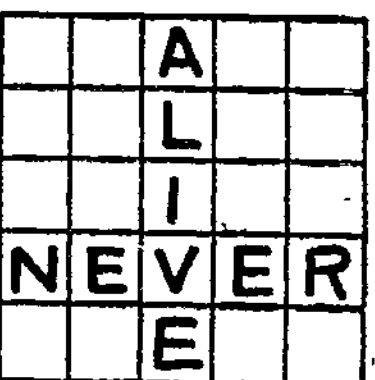

"To be home where democracy is so powerful, so wonderful and so free."

"Motorists who put off until January 31 the things which should be done immediately may be temporarily deprived of their driving privileges," advises Charles E. Pugh, secretary-manager, Pennsylvania Motor Federation (AAA), which represents 57 member motor clubs in the Commonwealth, including the Warren County Motor Club. "After that time it will be illegal to operate a motor vehicle unless the driver possesses a 1958 driver's license or to use a passenger car that does not bear the new inspection sticker for the current inspection period." Pugh issued the statement as a reminder to vehicle operators and passenger car owners that deadlines for both requirements occur at midnight January 31. Under the 1953 regulations, owners of commercial vehicles have until April 30 to have their trucks inspected. Pointing out that the Bureau of Motor Vehicles faces a tremendous task in issuing operators' licenses in time to meet the deadline, he continued: "Last-minute applicants might easily enter the new license period without valid operators' licenses if they fail to act immediately. 'By the same token,' Pugh added, 'waiting until the final hours of the current inspection period places such a heavy burden on the inspection stations that sometimes they cannot complete their examinations before the deadline.' 'Adverse weather conditions at this time of year also make delays in inspection a risky practice. Sudden snow storms or extremely low temperatures could place such unusually heavy demands on garages for emergency road service that it would become impossible for them to service the backlog of vehicles.' 'Be wise and take the necessary steps to meet these two deadlines,' Pugh concluded.

Your Child's Interests Can Key Room's Decoration

BY KAY SHERWOOD
NEA Staff Writer

BUILD up your favorite youngster's pride in his room with an imaginative touch or two tailored to his special interests. You don't have to redecorate the room to put the idea across; an accessory, a new curtain, a clever picture can be enough to delight him.

If the room is due for new curtains, you could try a patterned fabric that reflects his current enthusiasm. The bright, colored, juvenile prints are vigorous, artistic and deal with almost any subject matter in which a child could be interested.

If he's enamored of trains, there are patterns that range from little toy trains for young children to more accurately detailed reproductions of real trains for older children or for use in family rooms.

SHIPS, CIRCUSES, nature studies of insects and flowers, animals; all show up in colorful prints.

An especially charming new, crisp, cotton glosheen fabric is patterned with a variety of timepieces and pictures of daytime activities for youngsters. Any mother of a first or second-grader knows that clocks fascinate children and that telling time is a major preoccupation with them.

There's plenty of room in which to exercise the imagination when decorating a child's quarters. Theme shown above is tied to time, a fascinating subject to the youngsters.

ONE MOTHER played to this interest with new, clock-patterned curtains framed on each side with three small blackboards, on which are drawn simple clock faces with hands set at different times.

The boards are hung on the wall with large, pinch-type paper clips. To measure the setting, a lightweight plywood cornice is marked off as a giant ruler.

AN OLDER CHILD with a consuming interest in a specific subject such as sports car models, jet airplanes or sailing ships can have his interest reflected by a collection of some kind.

It may be made of miniatures or models he builds himself, of pictures, or of a combination of things.

To give his interest better display, show him how to make a wall arrangement of framed pictures of his hobby or of things related to it. Inexpensive paper plates in wood-grained finish and pictures cut to fit the inner circle give the framed effect.

The plate-picture is light enough to hang on the wall with double-faced masking or cellulose tape.

As his enthusiasms change, it's a simple matter to change the decorations without regretting the money you spent on past enthusiasms.

The Mature Parent

Resisting the Uncontrollable Only Causes Self-Despising

BY MRS. MURIEL LAWRENCE

LAST Halloween five-year-old Bud went "trick-or-treating" for the first time. He made a bit. Dressed as a tramp in an old sweater of his father's and a pair of his discarded tennis shorts, he received more applause and loot than any other child on his street.

Last Saturday he found the shorts smoldering in the incinerator beside the garage. When his mother admitted she'd put them there, he rushed back to try and rescue them. But they were hopelessly scorched. Accordingly, Bud sat down beside the incinerator and wept over departed glory.

Poking his head out of the garage, his father said, "Stop that noise! Do you want the whole neighborhood to know you're a crybaby?"

If Bud's father possessed his little boy's honest acceptance of helplessness, he'd be a less nervous man. He doesn't possess it.

When his sales manager's secretary says, "The boss is too busy to discuss those accounts with you this morning," he, like Bud, is faced by his inability to control the uncontrollable. But there all likeness ends.

Where Bud accepts his helplessness, his father resists it. Back in his office, he starts abusing himself for it. He imagines himself bursting into his manager's office, thumping his desk and roaring, "Look here, J. B., if my work isn't appreciated here, I'll go somewhere where it will be!"

BECAUSE he can't do this, he despises himself. For Bud's father has a very grand picture of himself as the All-Powerful. For years it's been telling him that he must manage any situation, no matter how difficult, and settle it right away. When he fails to exert this omnipotence, this grand image of himself says contemptuously, "What a disgusting Caspar Milquetoast you are!"

It causes him much unnecessary suffering. In this world there are many situations beyond our control. The Russians set Sputnik whirling over our heads. Rivers flood. People die. Mothers put treasures into incinerators and sales managers get too busy to see us when they promised to.

Perhaps Bud's father is ashamed of ordinary experiences of helplessness because someone used to say to him, "Be a man. Shame on you for a crybaby."

First Methodist Guest

The Rev. Glenn Evans, superintendent of the Henderson Settlement at Frakes, Ky., will preach at the 11:00 a. m. Sunday service in First Methodist church, selecting the topic "On Making a Ghost of a Chance!"

Born in Texas, Mr. Evans was graduated from Long Beach, Calif., Polytechnic High School and University of Redlands, Calif., and received his STB degree from Boston University School of Theology. After serving seven years as a Methodist missionary in Hawaii, he assumed his present post. In July, 1953, he and Mrs. Evans, with their four children, make their home at Henderson Settlement.

The Cumberland Mountains Settlement has served people of Frakes and vicinity for 32 years. It began as a one-room school for 13 pupils; today, has 700 acres with 22 buildings, including a public school in which 500 pupils are enrolled, a church, boys' and girls' dormitories, office buildings, barns, shops, etc.

Between 40 and 50 children make their home at the school, where each does his share of chores, keeps his room clean, and does his own laundry. Boys help in the gardens, girls in preparation and canning of produce. The Settlement also maintains a Goodwill Store, where adults may have employment and secure good used clothing at moderate prices.

Henderson Settlement is one of the places visited by young people of Warren First Church on their field trip last summer and is also where Peggy Niederlander, member of First Church, is working.

For Sunday morning music, George Johnson will play "Trumpet Tune and Air" by Purcell, "Chorale No. 1" by Franck and "Voluntary in C" by Purcell; the choir anthems will be "Souls of the Righteous" by Noble and "Turn Ye Even To Me" by Harke, with Monroe Marshall as soloist. MYF groups will meet at 6:30 p. m., Intermediates in the Everts Room, Seniors in Dunham Parlors.

Give Her Regards to Broadway--

Irish Colleen Becomes Banking Queen

BY AILEEN SNODDY
NEA Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK — (NEA) — Nell O'Connell was worried. And the worry put shadows in her lively Irish eyes.

Usually her worries are monetary. Not that she is broke, but because Nell O'Connell is a Dallas bank executive.

But a visit to New York recalled the nostalgia of her trouping days when she was the "Irish Colleen." In the days of Conan, John McCormack and Mimi Schumann-Helms, Nell toured the Orpheum circuit with an Irish harp and sweet singing voice.

She even refused the lead in "Little Nelly Kelly" because she was going to be a "great concert singer, thank you."

SOMEWHERE AMONG her music studies, begun when she was six, Miss O'Connell sandwiched three months of business school classes. This was to fill jobs to further a music career.

For her the days of her own radio show in New York, her tours and guest spots with such stars as Jack Benny, the late Fred Allen, Fibber McGee and Molly and Burns and Allen were brightspots for a memory album. But she is happy she unpacked her bags in Dallas when she did.

When the Hillcrest State Bank opened its door across the street from the Southern Methodist University campus, Nell O'Connell was put in charge of the vault.

"I was offered the job because I knew so many people in my hometown of Dallas," she explains. "I guess I unpacked my bags to stay then."

Now a vice president of Hill-

Nell O'Connell

crest, the first drive-in bank in this country, she explains, "My careers actually have been one."

"PEOPLE OFTEN go to a show to forget their problems, and they come to a bank to solve them."

But Miss O'Connell hasn't played her job by ear. As with her music, she studied. Only this time it took 10 years of American Institute of Banking night courses.

"The courses gave me confidence in my work and helped win promotions. It is easier for women to get ahead today in banking than when I first started, and much of it is because of such courses," she says.

"A woman needs initiative."

persistence and a pleasing personality, the know-how and a will to go forward in banking," she continues.

"There was, perhaps, one woman in banking in 1898. Now there are 340,000. The ratio of officers is about one woman for every six men. Of course, many women in banks do the equivalent work of men in executive positions but don't have a title. However, the Association of Bank Women, an organization of bank executives, recognizes this now and makes them eligible for membership," she points out.

MISS O'CONNELL FINDS her presence especially helpful in handling accounts during bereavements.

"Many older women have never written checks. They know nothing of their husband's business and are embarrassed to admit to a man that they don't know," she explains.

Once outside the bank the Irish Colleen keeps plucking away at her harp, when she doesn't have a broken arm.

And last year she had two. She broke her left wrist ("I think I fell over my rose beds") in May and by Christmas played two concerts.

In her years of retirement from the concert stage, Nell O'Connell has played for 500 weddings in Dallas and numerous club meetings and still pays her union dues.

It isn't easy to break with years of pleasing an audience or break off old ties of the theater circuit days, she finds. "I hate to turn down an old friend who asks for a loan," she admits.

• Salt • Thermometers • Tuberculosis

Q. Do some people use too much salt for good health?

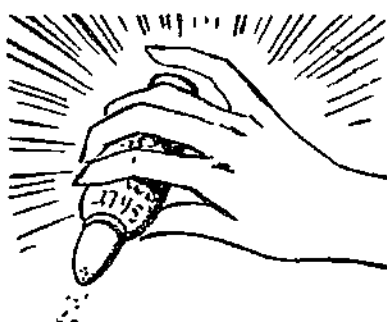

A. They may. Some doctors suspect that use of more salt than the body needs could lead to trouble. Laboratory animals given large amounts of salt develop all sorts of disorders, from kidney disease to high blood pressure. In a certain fishing village in northern Japan, where everyone eats salted fish and salted food, almost every person over forty has high blood pressure. A thoughtful doctor recently said that salt is essential for life, but what happens when you consume too much? On every table there is now a warning of a prince's ransom of snowy white salt.

Q. Should a "half-minute" fever thermometer be left in the mouth exactly one-half minute?

A. No. Three to five minutes is better. An English doctor tested 25 "half-minute" thermometers on himself while he was a patient in the hospital. There was as much as 3 degrees difference in his temperature readings at one-half minute and three minutes.

Q. Is tuberculosis inherited?

A. No, tuberculosis is caused by a germ. Although the disease itself is not inherited there is some evidence that weakness or predisposition for TB may be handed down. In tracing tuberculosis in families, two New York doctors found that about 25 per cent of brothers and sisters of TB patients had the disease. In the case of identical twins, almost 90 per cent of the "co-twins" had TB. This seems to show that a tendency toward the disease is inherited. If this were not the case, then brothers and sisters of TB patients would be about equally susceptible to the disease, regardless of whether they were twin or not.

Material in MEDICAL MIRROR is based on various scientific publications and does not necessarily reflect the opinion of all doctors. The diagnosis and treatment of disease requires the skill and knowledge which only a physician can apply by personally attending the patient.

To Perk Up a Winter Wardrobe

BY GAILE DUGAI
NEA Women's Editor

NEW YORK—(NEA)—There's nothing quite like a fresh, new blouse to put life into a midwinter wardrobe.

This year, blouses are set for the social whirl in nylon georgette, metallic-stripe fabrics, dramatic prints and washable satins. The new overblouse silhouette puts in an appearance for dinner and dressy wear, showing off a shawl collar or a draped cowl neckline.

The sophisticated blouse in black or white nylon lace lined with georgette and trimmed with jeweled buttons is one that could go to nearly any dressy affair. The purely feminine blouse in opaque nylon georgette offers a frilly jabot and deeply ruffled sleeves.

We show here two charmers from the current Judy Bond collection. Rich ladder print is used for the pure silk blouse (left) with new pilgrim cuffs that are cut wide and fastened with a single large button.

Exotic Persian stripe print (right) in pure silk makes blouse with open V-neckline and soft bow. Rhinestone buttons decorate cuffs and front closing.

Prints Bloom Brightly on Cotton

BY GAILE DUGAI
NEA Women's Editor

NEW YORK—(NEA)—Prints blossom brilliantly in resort collections about this time of year and with good reasons. Those of us who aren't planning a winter vacation like to buy them nevertheless and put them away for summer's wear.

By now, prints have gained acceptance for year-around wear. But each season, they take on a different look. For winter, the florals are masses of color. For resort wear, they are spaced prints on light or white grounds with the flowers easily identifiable.

The old notion that prints could be worn with anything has vanished. Prints must be as carefully accessorized as any other fashion. Usually, it's a good idea to pick up one sharp color in the print and repeat it in shoes and gloves or hat and handbag. The emphasis should be subtle but it should be there.

We show two designs in the same stylized daisy print in a hot combination of yellow and mustard.

Full-skirted version (left) has tiny sleeveless jacket over narrow bodice. The sheath (right) has a waistline defined by bands of grosgrain. Both are in a crease-resistant cotton that has a silken luster.

Legion Drum and Bugle Corps Has a New Director of Music

The American Legion Post 135 drum and bugle corps announced they have acquired the services of Clarence Briggs of Dunkirk, N. Y., as the new musical director for the drum corps. The corps is presently working on all new music and will undertake to learn a field drill so that they may enter field competition this summer.

Mr. Briggs brings with him a vast knowledge of drum corps work, having been music instructor of Hose Co. No. 1 Drum Corps, Dunkirk, N. Y., for six years, Farnham, N. Y., Ladies Drum Corps for three years, Gowanda, N. Y. "Red Devils" Drum Corps for three years. He is presently Vice President for Chautauque County of newly organized New York-Pennsylvania Parade and Judges Association.

The Complainers also announced that Bob Orndorf of the Black Knights Drum & Bugle Corps, Lock Haven, has been employed to arrange the new music and drill. Mr. Orndorf has been associated with the "Black Knights" for about twelve years, ten years as a playing member and two years as Musical Director and Drum Major. Art Londo and Bill Meyers also of the "Black Knights" are cooperating with Mr. Orndorf in writing the drum parts. Rehearsals for the Corps are held every Wednesday evening 7-9 p. m. at the Legion Home, Pennsylvania avenue, west. Anyone interested in joining the Corps is urged to contact Mr. Jack Barrphone 3330-R or Mr. Cliff Briggs—phone 1230-R.

In the Girl's Athletic Association basketball game yesterday the Beans and the Onions played to a 15-15 tie. A two minute overtime still found the teams deadlocked. The "sudden death" overtime put the Beans ahead 17-15. Joan Harrison was high scorer with 8 points, but it was Sue Werner's two-points that decided the game. In the second game, the potatoes whipped off a victory by defeating the Rutabagas 21-1. Pricilla Ross was high scorer with 19 points.

Junior students to further their education following graduation in June, 1959 are advised to take the College Entrance Examinations for practice. Taking the College Boards for practice in the Junior year could help to remove any doubt or uncertainty of what to expect and gives the student an idea where his weaknesses are in order that these may be somewhat improved by the time the College Boards are taken again in the Senior year. One of the following two available examination dates may be selected: March 15 or May 17. Further information and application form may be had from the Guidance Office.

Upward Trend in Employment Shown During December

Employment in Warren County edged upward during November and December according to a report released by Andrew J. Donick, manager of the local Pennsylvania State Employment Service office. The rise was the result of the pre-holiday hiring by the retail and wholesale trade group. Since the mid-December date, of course, there has been a decline in the mercantile group. Significantly, there was only a slight loss reflected by factories for the 60-day period—about one-and-one-half per cent. This latter trend represents a contrast with many other industrial towns where the drop was much sharper.

Mr. Donick indicated that the number of persons on the payrolls of the concerns surveyed is practically identical with last year's level, but is well ahead of December, 1955.

The employment official observed that the number of jobless insurance rolls have more than doubled since October—the latest total—602. Much of this increment has taken place since the holidays. Seasonal changes were the principal factor in the upward trend in insured unemployment. As of the first week in December, there were 414 persons receiving benefits; for the corresponding dates in 1956 and 1955 the totals were 263 and 290, respectively.

Mr. Donick commented that most employers are extremely cautious regarding forecasts—only modest changes are anticipated by those venturing predictions.

Speaking of Sports . . .

In the 54 year history of the American Bowling Congress tournament, no participant has been able to capture more than four championships in a lifetime. The bowler most likely to come up with No. 5 is none other than Texas-born Bill Lillard, one of four men possessing four titles. The fact that the 55th annual tenpin classic returns to New York State next spring in Syracuse's Onondaga County War Memorial might be a good omen for the 30 year old Lillard. It was on Lillard's first visit to New York in 1936 that he dazzled tournament followers in Rochester by winning three of his four crowns. In addition to leading the Chicago Falstaffs to the team championship, he won the doubles with Stan Gifford and capped his great performance by waltzing away with the all events title. In 1955 he was a member of the triumphant Pfeiffer Beers of Detroit. At Fort Worth last spring, Lillard became eligible for the ten year division and immediately grabbed third place with 203-46. Final team entry deadline is rapidly approaching for the tournament—February 11. Entries are to be mailed with accompanying fees of $10 per man to: ABC Tournament Headquarters, Onondaga County War Memorial, Syracuse 3, New York.

The POWER of FAITH

by Howard Brodie

FAITH gave John the Baptist the humbleness to step aside when he believed in One greater than himself, yet the power to stand up against a ruler in whom he did not believe. When Christ came to be baptized, John said, "I have need to be baptized of thee, and comest thou to me?" When the ruler Antipas offered John honors, wealth and freedom to stir the people into revolt against Rome, John said Christ "alone knows the way to the Kingdom."

THE SOVIET ECONOMIC WAR—President Eisenhower, in his State of the Union speech and again in his budget message, warned that Russia has launched a "passive economic offensive." Newspaper, above, shows that the President was right and the Russians aren't fooling. Moscow has cornered the market and is the key countries shown, surpassing U.S. aid twice over. Important is the fact that Russia focuses its financial fire not only on countries already in the Red camp, like Yugoslavia, but on shakily neutral ones like Egypt, India, Afghanistan in the hope of achieving subversion and eventual political domination. The weapons the Soviets use in this dangerous economic war are loans—at lower interest rates and a

SEVEN PINS & ONE DRAW
DOWN ST. MARYS 41 TO 8

With seven pins and a draw Dragon matmen downed St. Marys on the Saints home mats in short order last night. This lopsided score, however, did not indicate the type of match by any means. The much improved St. Marys squad gave the High Grapplers quite an interesting evening and the crowd at St. Marys really roared with every move their boys made.

Larry Campbell, the Dragon mightily 103 pounder, is unbeaten thus far this season and three falls to his record. Trailing closely behind Larry is Tom Valone, Gall Page and Denny Platt with records of three wins and one loss each.

The Blue and White matmen's next home meet is with a rugged Titusville Rocket team at the Beatty Gymnasium Tuesday evening January 21, starting time at 7:30. The Rockets have always given Warren trouble and control the win side of the intercollegiate sport. With the improvements that the Dragons have been making the past few weeks, this young squad could very easily turn back the Rockets. Young and old alike are invited to attend this ancient sport of muscular ability in the form of strength and mental ability in the form of skill that keeps the spectator on edge to watch one young boy trying to outwit the other.

The summary of last night's match as follows:

Baby Dragons
Drop Contest
To Washington

Jamestown—Washington Lobos of Jamestown became sole occupants of first place in the Chadekoun Valley Junior High Basketball League by turning back the Baby Dragons 58-45 yesterday. It was on Tuesday that the Lobos powered their way into a first-place tie with Warren.

For the unbeaten Lobos, the defending champions of the league, it was a big win for it not only ended the Dragons' win string at 2 but also gave them a win over their two closest rivals, Jefferson and Warren.

A "light" 8-point second period heralded the downfall of the visiting Junior Dragons, after they had matched points with the powerful Lobos in the opening frame to take a one-point edge. The Dragons apparently rallied after their stumble and battled Coach Tex Dain's charges right down to the wire, but were unable to pick up the lost points. Rolly Poust and Ron Schneider led the Warren attack, with Poust emerging high gun behind 18, while Schneider bucketed 11. The 19-point tally of Johnny Williams, backed by George Banks' 15, spearheaded the Lobos victory drive.

New Uniforms for YHS Cheerleaders

This comely sextette of Youngsville yummies model the new cheerleaders' uniforms which they just obtained. The outfits are bright red jumpers with white inserts in the skirts and a white letter "X" on the front. White blouses provide a finishing contrast to the ensemble. The girls are justly proud of the outfits for they represent successful money raising ventures such as "hops" sponsored after the games. Miss Marue Mortland (standing), YHS physical education director, advises the peppy adventures of the group, composed of, from left, Susan Bailey, Patty Swanson, Mary Bouchard, Judy Spencer, Rose Hill and Connie Brown. Sugar Ray Hooking
Up With Basilio in
Rematch March 25

Chicago (P)—It should be with considerable wariness that Carmen Basilio puts his middleweight title on the line in a rematch with Sugar Ray Robinson March 25 at the Chicago Stadium.

The big arena, which will be scaled for an indoor record gate of $500,000 based on a 22,000 attendance, is the scene of some of Robinson's most dramatic triumphs.

There, on Feb. 24, 1951, he stopped Jake LaMotta in the 11th round to win the 160-pound crown.

There, on April 16, 1952, he defended it by chilling Rocky Graziano in the third round.

There, he clinaxed a comeback Dec. 8, 1953, by knocking out Bobo Olson in the fifth round to regain the title.

There, he again regained it May 1, 1957, with a fifth-round kayo of Gene Fullmer.

Basilio dethroned the 37-year-old Robinson last Sept. 23 in Yankee Stadium and vacated his welter weight title.

It was a bruising 15-rounder with Basilio getting a split decision.

But Robinson proved he still could go at top speed for the full distance.

The two will sign fight contracts Thursday in Chicago.

Kundla Takes Charge of Minneapolis Lakers

By The Associated Press
Coach Johnny Kundla took charge of Minneapolis in the National Basketball Assn. last night, but it was the same old story for the Lakers.

They were tagged with their 31st defeat in 40 games, 124-108 at Cincinnati, as the rolling Royals won their fifth straight. It also was Cincinnati's 10th success in 11 starts and pushed the Royals within 6 1/2 games of the St. Louis Hawks, Western Division leaders, who were whipped 112-98 by Syracuse.

Detroit defeated Philadelphia 113-108 in the only other game scheduled.

Cactus Jack Curtice Is Taking Stanford Post

Stanford, Calif. (P)—Stanford fans accustomed to hearing their football coach predict victory probably won't have to change the habit.

Cactus Jack Curtice, who moves from the University of Utah to Stanford March 1, is just as likely as not to pick his own team to win, contrary to coach custom.

Curtice, 50, and Stanford came to agreement formally yesterday, as expected, that he would be head football coach for five years.

Salary terms weren't divulged. Sources in Salt Lake City placed them at $17,000 annually for coaching football and $2,000 for leadership at a summer boys' camp.

"All my life I have yearned for a taste of a big-time operation," Curtice said in Salt Lake City.

Hospital Patients
Are Engaging in Sports Activities

Patients' Bowling and Volleyball Leagues have been organized at Warren State Hospital by the Recreation Department, of which James H. Hillman is director, and will provide winter enjoyment for a large number of patients.

In each league the teams are representative of the following areas of the Hospital: Open Ward, 2nd Floor, 3rd Floor, Recreation, 4th Floor, Admissions Building.

The Bowling League got off to a whirlwind start Thursday morning with RT taking three points from Admissions and Open Ward taking three from 2nd Floor. The 3rd Floor squad served as pin setters in pulling a bye. For RT, one of the patients came up with 186 as high single game, while another patient, bowling for 2nd Floor, took high three-game series with a nice 493.

Total pins for the teams was recorded as follows: RT, 1675; Open Ward, 1609; Admissions, 1563; 2nd Floor, 1526.

Heavyweight Fight at Syracuse This Evening

Syracuse, N. Y. (P)—Harold Johnson, a man leery of oranges, battles Bert Whitehurst tonight in a TV heavyweight brawl.

Johnson, 29-year-old veteran slugger from Philadelphia, won a split decision over Whitehurst in a previous match.

Tonight's 10-round performance will be televised and broadcast (NBC TV, radio, 10 p. m. EST).

Johnson is remembered by viewers for an incident in a televised fight two years ago when he failed to answer the third-round bell after biting into a doped orange in Philadelphia. An investigation by the Pennsylvania State Athletic Commission cleared him of complicity.

Boxing
Chicago — Middleweight champion Carmen Basilio and Sugar Ray Robinson agreed to hold their return title bout in Chicago Stadium March 25.

Bowling
Minneapolis — Eddie Lubanski of Detroit set the pace in the first day of the All-Star bowling tournament finals with a 230-plus average for 16 games.

Football
San Francisco — Cactus Jack Curtice, coach of the University of Utah football teams for the past eight seasons, was named head coach at Stanford.

Racing
Miami, Fla. — Olymar ($840) sped to a 2 1/4 length victory in the $24,500 Hurricane Handicap, feature of closing day at Tropical Park.

Arcadia, Calif. — Betty Pose ($1140) led from wire to wire in scoring a length victory in the $10,000 Hollywood Purse at Santa Anita.

Warren Dragons Seeking 2nd
Section Two Win Against the Beavers at Corry This Evening

A crippled band of Warren Dragons, seeking their second victory over the Corry Beavers tonight as league action resumes on all fronts. Definitely out of the Corry game is Mark Peterson who has had difficulty shaking off the effects of a bad cold. Peterson was ordered to bed by his family physician for the remainder of the week.

To add more woes, Nick Monroe, although a probable starter, has missed three practice sessions because of an accident suffered at his home. Also on the injured list is the Dragon dynamo, diminutive Jack Karkosky with an ailing shoulder.

Karkosky, as this is being written, will make the trip and is expected to see action, but how effective his performance will be no one can predict. Unless the shoulder responds to treatment, his efficiency in every department of the game will drop sharply.

Along with the above trio, the name of Don McKelvey appears on the list of cripples. Don suffered a groin injury, and was forced to remain home from school yesterday thus missing an important practice session. Latest report indicates that he will be ready for action, however.

With the Dragons in bad physical shape, it appears that the local cagers are in for a rough evening. Just who will fill in for the unfit is problematical. Coach Joe Masse, mystified at the turn of events, will await developments before commenting on a possible lineup. However, it is certain that reserves will be called upon to fill the breach in the depleted Dragon forces.

While Warren is attempting to wrest victory from Corry, the big one will be played at Titusville where the Rockets entertain Meadville. The game is a sell-out with all 1200 seats taken in Titusville's new gym. At Franklin the Oil City Oilers, a veteran combine, will try for their initial league win.

SUICIDES WITH SAW

A despondent 65-year-old man from Titusville RD 2, who had twice before tried to kill himself, succeeded yesterday when he slashed both his arms with a power saw. Charles L. Faunce was found dead in his garage about 6 p. m. Thursday after police received a call that he had not been seen since he entered the building early in the morning. Police found the man lying dead beside a lawn chair with blood all over the garage. Officers surmised he had cut his right arm first, about four inches above the wrist on the palm side, then slashed the left forearm. After he unplugged the power saw he presumably sat down to die, falling from the chair during death throes. Two years ago the man had cut his arms with razor blades but prompt hospital attention saved him, just as it had previously when he dined on insecticides. He had been despondent since a minor auto accident a few days earlier. Four children and a wife survive.

Death Claims Another Active Worker in Boy Scout Council

This entire community was saddened Thursday afternoon, when Carl Waldron Rogers, aged 78 and well known and respected resident of 228 Pennsylvania avenue, west, died at 3:40 p. m. in the Brennan-Root Nursing Home following a brief illness.

Mr. Rogers was born in Mead township October 12, 1857, the son of the late Alson and Mary Davis Rogers, pioneer residents of the area. Following his preliminary education, he attended and was graduated from Penn State University with a degree in chemical engineering.

Returning to Warren prior to World War I, he established the gun cotton factory between North Warren and Russell. He served in an ordnance plant in Sevickley during World War I and as superintendent of the Keystone Ordnance Company in Meadville during World War II.

He also served as a civil engineer and assisted in surveying a number of the area's roadways. He spent some time in the west and in Alaska, where he was associated with the Government Assay Office in Fairbanks for nine years. Mr. Rogers became interested in Boy Scouting in 1922, and had been actively associated ever since. He served several years as a volunteer director at Camp Olmsted, and was prominently engaged in teaching crafts, especially leathercraft, traveling throughout Warren county and to Ludlow to teach these skills to boys.

During the tenure of Frank Roud as Scout executive, Mr. Rogers served as a volunteer field executive for two years, when Mr. Roud was bedridden. At the death of Mr. Roud, Mr. Rogers was offered the position of Scout executive. He refused, but did serve as acting executive, without compensation, for two years, until the council secured a replacement.

Carl Rogers, Jim Hazeltine, and Francis M. Caughey organized and operated the first county campaign of the Scout Council, enabling it to live through the depression.

He received the Silver Beaver, highest honor a local council can bestow, in 1932, becoming the second local man to be so honored. The first was George Olmsted of Ludlow.

He was elected a representative to the National Council, Boy Scouts of America, in 1937.

Mr. Rogers was a member of First Church of Christ, Scientist, a clerk in that church, and a member of its board of trustees. A former reader in the church, he had served in that capacity in Niagara Falls, N. Y., and in Fairbanks in years past.

He was also a member of the Golden Age Society and served the local group as president.

Surviving him are two nieces, Mrs. Mary E. Dalton, Schenectady, N. Y., and Mrs. Evelyn K. Cowles, of The Willows at Rogers Mills; four nephews, Henry A. Miller, Pasadena, Calif.; Rogers W. Miller, Torrence, Calif.; George "Sherry" Miller, Denver, Colo., and Capt. James I. Miller, Huntington, Long Island; also several cousins.

Mrs. Howard B. Smith, Christian Science lay member of Bradford, will conduct funeral services at 2:00 p. m. Sunday, followed by interment in Oakland cemetery. Explorer Scouts will form a Guard of Honor, board members of Chief Complanter Council will serve as active and honorary bearers.

It is the family's request that, in lieu of flowers, contributions be made to the Boy Scout Council, to be used as a memorial in perpetuating Mr. Rogers' name in Scouting. (Meadville papers please copy).

He was a veteran of World War I and had followed the oil business all his life.

Grand Jury Throws Out Pike Fraud Charges

Harrisburg, (P)—The Dauphin County grand jury today threw out charges of misconduct in office, involving expense accounts, against three former members of the Pennsylvania Turnpike Commission. The grand jury refused to indict on the charge Thomas J. Evans, former chairman; G. Franklin McSorley, suspended chairman, and James F. Torrance, former commissioner.

wildlife and historical import of Kinzua Valley.

Chief Cornelius Seneca was also on hand for the meeting. The president of the Seneca Nation proved himself an able spokesman for his people.

The Chief began his talk with several words of thanks for the many "white brothers and sisters" who have aided the Indians' cause, then gave a brief resume of Indian "White" relations.

He told how Columbus had gotten along amicably with his people and it was when the "White Fathers" and their land agents took away hunting grounds that the Indian was compelled to fight.

Chief Seneca then aligned his tribe's situation with that of others in the world today with whom the United States is attempting to draw up treaties giving inalienable rights. It would be a fine thing, observed the chief, if other countries with whom the government is attempting treaty relationships should hear that the United States can break a treaty at will.

"The Army Engineers have been wrong before," he concluded, "Perhaps they are now."

Attorney O'Neill said later that the Indians were definitely not opposed to flood control. "If the Kinzua Dam were thought to be the only method," said O'Neill, "the Senecas have stated they would not only be happy to sell their land, they would give it for the flood protection. But they are not convinced that a dam at Devil's Elbow is the right way."

Nobody else at the meeting was either.

State and Federal

strike vote had been taken, but did not rule out that possibility.

According to a company letter sent all employees yesterday, DeLuxe is offering an eight-cent-an-hour wage increase plus certain additional fringe benefits. The union reportedly is asking a 15-cent-an-hour increase to bring, in its words, the wage standards up to those of other area employees. Penn Furnace was specifically mentioned as receiving higher wages. Basic average wage at DeLuxe is said to be $1.19-an-hour by the UIE Local.

In its open letter, DeLuxe vice president and general manager Bernard Goffberg said that "these are the very best possible terms that your Company is capable of offering while at the same time being assured of being able to continue to operate in a competitive market." The letter also urged the men to continue work during negotiations.

The contract expired January 10 after two months of fruitless bargaining on the wage issue.

Says Government

the fiscal year beginning July 1 recommends another one million dollar appropriation.

Attorneys for both sides agreed at today's conference that approximately 700 Indians living in the area would be directly affected by the project.

O'Neill said only 9,000 of the reservation's 30,000 acres would be flooded by the reservoir, but that some 21,000 acres, all told, would be made inaccessible by completion of the project.

Boyd contended that exact figures on acreage to be flooded are not definite because surveys have not been completed. He said the government does not want to jeopardize its condemnation rights by stipulating an exact acreage at this time.

Erie County School Bus Driver Has Close Call

Erie (P)—An Erie County school bus driver was credited today with averting a possible tragedy when a skidding station wagon struck his bus.

State police said William J. Allen, 36, of North East, stopped the bus off Route 20 just outside of North East yesterday to discharge some of his young passengers.

Seeing the station wagon sliding helplessly toward the bus, Allen quickly herded the children back aboard seconds before the collision.

Allen and his charges escaped injury. Miss Annette Tayne, 34, of Ripley, N. Y., driver of the station wagon, suffered only minor face cuts.
